

Part 2. Working through Conflict

With your fiancé, choose either a problem that is unresolved or something that was recently resolved. If you put things on a scale of 1 (superficial problem) to 10 (very, very sensitive), pick something between 5 and 7. Be prepared to talk about the fight with the pastor, but work through the questions below before you come in.

1. What was the problem/conflict/fight?
2. What was each of you coveting, desiring, hoping for?
3. At what point did you get disappointed/annoyed/frustrated/angry with your fiancé? And, why did you get disappointed/annoyed/frustrated/angry with your fiancé?
4. Did you really understand your fiancé's perspective? Ask him/her if he or she feels like you understood him/her?
5. What are your typical rules of engagement in a fight? If you don't have any, what should they be?
6. What sins do you need to own up to and confess to God and your fiancé?
(Take some time to do that now...)
